Zionist Leaders Oppose World Jewish Congress

No Honest Election

BERLIN (Spl.)—Why the belief that the recent German elections did not divulge the true sentiment for or against Hitler, is shown by the picture above with 100-year-old Tailor Spanner casting his ballot. The voting was in the open under the watchful eyes of Nazi storm troopers, so that only the most courageous could show their displeasure with the Nazi regime, by abstaining from voting, or by not marking their ballot.

Newer estimates of the actual vote for Hitler place the total between 70 and 80 per cent for Der Fuehrer, a wide divergence from the 98 per cent plus announced as the official results.

Egyptian Blue Shirts

England is beginning to fret over the growth of the organization.

Recovering

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (Spl.)—Only survivor besides the hostess of the air crash near this city which took twelve lives, Mrs. Meyer Ellenstein, wife of the mayor of Newark, N. J., is recovering in a local hospital from injuries.

First reports to Mr. Ellenstein, who is now at his wife's bedside, said she was dead. As he embarked from Newark for the scene of the crash, he was apprized that his wife was seriously injured but living. Mrs. Ellenstein is expected to recover.

Drink Nazi Beer

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Spl.)—High government officials and members of Congress were the guests of Hans Luther, Nazi ambassador, at the German Embassy here for a beer party. Amidst the gayest friendship, the Nazi staff at Washington mingled with the men who decide the actions of the U. S. Government.

er; Jesse Jones, head of the RFC, and Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, potential G.O.P. presidential nominee, drinking bock beer together at the party.

Poll Shows 32 Of 50 Against 5 Non-Committal

NEW YORK (JTA)—Dr. A. J. Rongy, chairman of the National Council Committee of the Zionist Organization of America, made public the results of a questionnaire poll he had taken among members of the committee, according to which 32 of the 50 who replied oppose immediate convocation of a World Jewish Congress, 13 favor it and 5 are non-committal.

In mailing the questionnaire to the members, Dr. Rongy included a letter in which he expressed opposition to the congress on the grounds that it might detract from the importance of Palestine and Zionism. He also asserted that holding of the congress might be used to political advantage in the United States to stir up anti-Semitism during the forthcoming presidential election.

Among those who signified opposition to an immediate congress were: Israel S. Chipkin, Samuel Markewich, Rabbi Israel Levinthal, Isaac Imber, Harry P. Fierst, Felix A. Levy, J. I. Rudavsky, David J. Galter, James G. Heller, M. Ribalow, Nathan Straus and Benjamin F. Everts.

Those favoring the congress included Louis Lipsky, M. E. Wyner and Meyer Goldberg.

In making public results of the poll, Dr. Rongy expressed fears that at some future date Communists might get control of the congress and commit world Jewry to Communism, thereby playing into the hands of the anti-Semites.

17 U. S. Groups To Join

NEW YORK (JTA)—The American Jewish Congress announced this week that seventeen national organizations had responded to its call to participate in preparations for the first session of the World Jewish Congress to be held in Geneva next August.

The organizations are: Independent Order B'rith Abraham, Independent Order B'rith Sholom, the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America, the women's branch of the union, the Jewish National Workers Alliance, the Council of Young Israel, the Federation of Polish Jews in America, the Jewish War Veterans of United States, the United Rumanian Jews of America, Mizrahi, the Poale Zion, Hadassah, Order Sons of Zion, Pioneer Women's Organization, the Histadruth Ivrit and the Zionist Revisionists.

My mail this week includes a postcard printed in bright blue ink which carries the question, "Have you read the newest pamphlet on 'How To Destroy the Jews'?" Written by a well-known writer in simple layman language. Send 10 cents (stamps or coin) to P. O. Box 1092, Arcade Annex, Los Angeles, Cal." Personally I could watch the action of some of our rabbis and leaders and save myself the ten cents, but I must admit I am curious to read the newest method of exterminating the Jews and, except for the fact that I would be contributing 10 cents to an anti-Semite, I would certainly write for the pamphlet . . . if any of you readers want to convince some of the recalcitrant Jewish givers that danger is imminent here in the United States, I believe you might be forgiven for contributing the small sums to the coffers of a mercenary enemy.

Several of my contemporaries in the Anglo-Jewish field, see no harm in advertisers extending Easter greetings to their readers. The Southwest Jewish World, published in Phoenix, Arizona, whose editor is Rabbi William H. Rosenblatt, of Tucson, is one of the most glaring culprits in this respect. Rabbi Rosenblatt editorializes on "This Year We Are Slaves." Could he mean slaves to money from advertisers. The fault lies not so much with the unwitting advertiser as with the publication. An Orthodox Jew is insulted by the greeting, and even the apathetic Jew sees little point in a merchant spending money in a Jewish paper to wish Jewish people a happy Easter.

This paper is organizing a Resort and Camp Bureau which will be the most inclusive and elaborate of its kind. Readers who are often worried by choice of camps and recreation centers, can write to our Bureau for authentic information. Questions about observance of the dietary laws, fees, facilities and other vexing problems will be answered with dispatch. If you are planning a vacation, you will be wise to make use of the information gathered by our Bureau.

The American Jewish Congress Makes An Insulting Suggestion

In its call to the Jews of America to join in the autocratic elections set for June 12 and 14 in Washington of delegates to the August World Jewish Congress, the American Jewish Congress naively puts down on paper one of the most objectional suggestions ever made by a Jewish organization.

Writing to a non-Congress member in one of the first twenty-five cities in the United States and one of the three largest cities in the South, Louis Lipsky, who has time and again declared that the United Jewish Congress represented United States Jewry, says: "I am informed that there is no functioning committee (he means not even one paid-up member) of the American Jewish Congress in your community. May I therefore urge you, acting in the public interest, to summon without delay a meeting of leading representatives of your local Jewish organizations, at which meeting an organization committee for a City Convention is to be elected."

Naturally the letter is an insult to every self-respecting Jewish Community. Louis Lipsky takes it upon himself to tell these communities which have not seen the need or wisdom to form an American Jewish Congress group, to organize a haphazard election and send a delegate to Washington, so that the American Jewish Congress can then tell the five million Jews of the United States that it represents their opinion.

How farcical. And how presumptuous. Evidently there are many communities which the American Jewish Congress hopes will be gullible enough, that even though they have no organization, to hastily form one of Mr. Lipsky's bidding, because the letter was multigraphed, and not typewritten.

If the American Jewish Congress does not represent Jewish opinion in the United States, it represents opinions of Jews of England and France even less. In France, the most powerful Jewish group, The Alliance Israelitique Universelle, has refused to take part in the World Congress. In England, the British Board of Jewish Deputies, in challenging the right of the World Jewish Congress to speak for any except their constituent organizations, refused to join; and in the United States the B'nai B'rith and the American Jewish Committee have fought against the Congress idea since Rabbi Stephen S. Wise first issued it as his pet scheme for the solution through Rabbi Wise of the Jewish problem.

So that when the pronouncement for the election of delegates boldly declares that the U. S. delegation which will consist solely of American Jewish Congress members "will reflect the views of American Jewry on the problems that are to be considered by the World Jewish Congress," it knowingly tells a falsehood. The American Jewish Congress is factually a New York organization. It has adherents in the East, but in the South and west of the Mississippi River, there are practically no American Jewish Congress representatives. And even in the East, the American Jewish Congress stronghold, the B'nai B'rith and the American Jewish Committee and many other groups are definitely anti-World Jewish Congress. So that instead of representing the 5,000,000 Jews of the United States, the American Jewish Congress does not represent the opinion of something over 4,000,000 American Jews.

If the American Jewish Congress preferred to be honest it could announce its own electoral convention and the World Jewish Congress for what they actually are—meetings of a few, small groups, similar to the Washington meeting held recently of the International Convention of B'nai B'rith. In fact the B'nai B'rith could with a great deal more justification have termed its meeting a World Jewish Congress and declared that they spoke for 16,000,000 Jews of the world.

If the World Jewish Congress is to be held, it must make its backing known. It must declare who it represents and who it does not represent. This is too enlightened an age and the Jewish press of the United States is too strong to permit the American Jewish Congress to force non-Jewish American opinion to believe that it represents Jews of America.

Come out into the open, American Jewish Congress. Be honest. You know you don't represent the opinion of the Jews of the United States. If you represent 250,000 Jews, say so; if you represent a half million or three-quarters of a million, say so. Unfortunately Mr. Lipsky's letter to communities that do not have American Jewish Congress groups deliberately intended to make it seem that these cities are being represented and shows a malicious disregard of all ethics. The more subtleties you employ, the greater will be your debacle.

Need it be said, that an organization that purposes to accomplish what you hope to do, must be clean and free from pettiness and chicanery.

Sammy Balter Is Rationalizing

Sammy Balter is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles. He is a former school teacher, is married and is now employed in the Los Angeles branch of the National Youth Association. In addition Sammy is a finished basketball player. In fact he has been named on the American Olympic team. Another Jewish player, Lloyd Goldstein, who also is a member of the champion Universal Pictures team, has declined to go to Germany to take part in the Olympics. Balter said, "While I certainly resent the national policies of the Nazi government, I don't see any reason why I should not take part in the Olympics. I think the most effective way to enforce our side of the argument is to show Herr Hitler that a Jew has as much right to be an athlete as an Aryan or anyone else."

What Sammy was doing was rationalizing. He wanted to make the trip to Germany and he needed an excuse to protect himself from his Jewish friends and to protect himself from himself.

No, Sammy, you won't show Hitler that a Jew has a right to be an athlete. Hitler knows that. Rudi Ball did exactly what you are doing, with the added justification for his act that his relatives might be harmed if he refused the Nazi invitation (order). So in fact you won't show Hitler anything.

On the other hand, it is not beyond reasonable expectation that Hitler may use you to show the rest of the world that Jews are joining in the Olympic Games. The Hitler propaganda machine has seized on less logical incidents to turn to the advantage of the Nazis.

Your trip may be very enjoyable, Sammy, but you will have to live with your friends for many years after the 1936 Olympics are forgotten, and your apostasy will always be like a scar on your face.

Wants An 8-Page Paper

Dear Mr. Markun:

As a reader of your paper, I find it very interesting, but I also find it too small. Certainly, there must be enough news to fill up, say at least, eight pages. Many of my friends are subscribers, too, and we enjoy reading your column, or whatever you call it.

Now if you can answer this question with an eight-page paper, from now on, you really will have accomplished something.

MRS. M. R. GOLDMAN.
Chicago, Ill.

Dear Mrs. Goldman:

If you hadn't addressed your letter to me you would have done me a great favor. Because although many times I know I have not been able to answer a "problem" sent to me, I rarely have to admit to my readers that I was unable to help them, by simply not printing the letter. But your letter sounded so good to me along lines I have been thinking, that I took it right in to the publisher, without foreseeing that his head is as full of mean tricks as an eight-year-old youngster's with a shotgun, slingshot, and a hose.

Problems

By SAMUEL S. MARKUN

I have wanted to see an eight-page paper for so long that I am almost prepared to go to shul and daven for it. As the publisher looked at your letter, a malicious gleam came into his eyes. My wide grin began to freeze on my face as he said, "The letter is addressed to you. Answer it." Then the argument started.

So I am answering. The Spokesman Company publishes three newspapers, the New York or National Spokesman, The Jewish Post of Indianapolis, and The Spokesman of Louisville. As the advertising warrants, the papers are enlarged, Louisville, where the volume of advertising is heaviest, always publishes at least eight pages. Since you received the national edition, you know that if they cut baloney as thin as it is, they would have to get special knives. However, maybe you noticed, too, that national advertising is picking up. Last week the publisher almost broke his heart and ordered an eight-page paper. But no, the old skink said we'd better wait until we can publish the larger paper at least twice a month regularly, because it would be bad psychology to go from eight down to four again.

Wants To Sell Paper In Washington

To the Editor:

I would like to become an agent for your valuable weekly paper. I am sure that I could make a success of it.

I have quite an experience in obtaining subscriptions for newspapers in various cities in the country.

If you are interested in giving me the agency of Washington and vicinity kindly inform at your earliest convenience.

I shall give you more detail as to my experience and character when I hear from you.

1923 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W.,
Washington, D. C.

(Editor's Note: Because many letters such as the above are received, we are printing it. A number of agents in cities throughout the nation are now earning a comfortable weekly income by soliciting subscriptions to this paper. Territories are not available in many states, but additional subscription agents are desired in some communities. To expedite matters, all wishing to sell this paper, should forward three letters of recommendation from responsible Jewish leaders of their home town with their application).

To Erect Shaft For Adolph Ochs

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (Spl.)—Half way up historic Lookout Mountain, a shaft in honor of the First Citizen of Chattanooga, the late Adolph Ochs, revered publisher of The New York Times and The Chattanooga Times, will be erected, it was decided following the unveiling of a memorial plaque to the great Jew at a ceremony in the Julius and Bertha Ochs Memorial Temple.

Decision to erect the shaft was announced by the Ochs Memorial Association, after it was felt that a bust or a statue would be too small to fit into the picture of grandeur on the mountain. Designs for the Memorial for which $5,000 is now available and $5,000 more will be forthcoming, have already been completed.

CO-ED IS EDITOR

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (Spl.)—Miriam E. Klonek, blond-headed, Jewish co-ed at the University of Rochester, has been named editor-in-chief of the school's weekly newspaper, The Tower Times. Former associate editor of the publication, Miss Klonek is active in campus affairs, and last year headed the Liberal Center.

(The publisher is making me write this next paragraph). You can help raise the paper to eight pages and more by going out of your way to let our advertisers know that your patronage is the result of their ad in this paper. You might even take time to write to them. Just a few letters would convince the Chevrolet Motor Company, or P. Lorillard (Old Golds) that their advertising in this paper is really bringing results.

I can assure you that the next time I get a letter like this I'll ponder a long time before I take it into the publisher's office.

TO TRACE EXODUS ROUTE

Lone Jewish Archaeologist
To Follow Line Of 40
Years' March

(Editor's Notes: Next June Dr Nelson Glueck, noted archaeologist, will leave for Palestine to lead an expedition which will attempt to trace the route of the Israelites through the wilderness after they left Egypt. He reveals his plans in an exclusive interview with the Jewish Telegraphic Agency correspondent in Cincinnati.)

CINCINNATI, O. (JTA)—Centuries ago a multitude of Israelites turned their eyes for the last time toward the pyramids their labor had helped to build, and moved in a great Exodus out of Egypt with the Promised Land as their goal. The goal was farther off than they thought, and they wandered 40 years, the Bible says, before they arrived in Canaan.

Next June, more than 3,000 years later, a Jewish explorer will set out in an attempt to trace the exact route they followed through the wilderness. The explorer is Dr. Nelson Glueck, archaeologist and newly appointed director of the American School of Oriental Research in Jerusalem.

He declared in an interview that he hopes to find important copper mines on the Sinai peninsula which will serve as a clue to the route of the Hebrews' wanderings. He will sail on the liner Excalibur June 9 and arrive in Palestine June 28 to take up his research.

"Where there are copper mines there were trade routes," Dr. Glueck said. "Last year we were able to find mines, both copper and iron, from the Dead Sea down to the Gulf of Akaba. I am convinced that I can find more mines all the way down to Serabit el-Khadim in Sinai, where ancient Egyptian copper-workings have been discovered."

To Penetrate Midian

He explained that the Israelites, in their line of march from Egypt would probably have followed the route of the Sinai copper mines. In tracing this route, Dr. Glueck will attempt to penetrate forbidden Midian, made famous by Lawrence of Arabia and, centuries before, by Moses and his father-in-law, Jethro. He said the district belongs to Ibn Saud, King of Hejaz, "and it's terribly difficult to get into his territory."

Dr. Glueck intends to continue his explorations into ancient Ammon and Gilead and trace the ancient trade routes from Palestine to Yemen. "We will travel on camels and will have to carry supplies and water," he said. "We won't touch the Mecca and Medina region—all non-Mohammedans are unconditionally barred from that territory."

Iron Ore Abounds

Chemical analysis of some of the iron ore found on his last expedition to Palestine shows sixty per cent pure iron content, he said.

Dr. Glueck is the only American Jew engaged in archaeology in Palestine and Transjordan. Jews

Swastika Not Worn

OKLAHOMA CITY (JTA)—The Nazi teapot-tempest that was stirred up when Oklahoma National Guardsmen were photographed with swastikas on their left shoulders has subsided with assurances by the Governor that Hitler is far from moving into the state capitol and—better yet—revelation that the commander of the forces is Major Abe Herskowitz.

The tempest began to simmer when Mollie Pearlman, of New York, saw what appeared to be a swastika on the guardsmen's shoulders in a newspaper photograph. Forthwith she wrote a letter to Governor Marland.

"That Nazi swastika above the American emblem on the arms of your National Guardsmen," said she, "is a shocking and offensive sight."

Governor Marland investigated and found the emblem on the guardsmen's shoulders was the "dexter," the reverse of the swastika, and was nothing more than the emblem of the Forty-fifth Division, which includes other states besides Oklahoma.

NEW FACTS UNEARTHED

JERUSALEM (JTA)—Evidence upsetting theories that the Jews deserted Jericho immediately after Joshua's era has been unearthed by laborers digging on the site of the ancient city, it was revealed last week.

Eretz Israel Controversy Brings Suit And Protests

JERUSALEM (JTA)—The Government prohibition on the use of the term "Eretz Israel" (land of Israel) over the radio became a national issue last week when suit was filed to force lifting of the ban, while the authorities forbade use of the term as the name for a motion picture studio.

Israel Amicam, who recently fought a successful crusade for transmission of telegrams in Hebrew characters, instituted an action against the Government, basing his case on photostatic copies of proclamations of the late King George V published by the Palestine Government, addressed to the Jewish community, in which "Eretz Israel" was used repeatedly.

The Government refused to permit a Tel Aviv cinema studio to adopt the name, "Eretz Israelith," after forcing it to drop its title, "National Studios," on the ground the term, "national" was not permitted. The Government's objection to "Eretz Israelith" was stated to be that there is no such thing as a land of Israel.

ed to be that there is no such thing as a land of Israel.

The Jewish National Council delivered a formal protest to High Commissioner Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchop on the recent action of the Palestine Broadcasting Company in ruling off the air the words "Eretz Israel," used by Jewish announcers in referring to Palestine. Sir Arthur intimated to Isaac Ben Zvi, president of the council, that the Chief Secretary of the Government is considering the matter.

In Chattanooga, Tenn., the same question was asked and the same answer given. "There is reason to believe that in both cases the questioner was planted in the audience," said a spokesman for the American League here.

In his talk here Chaillaux declared that forty per cent of the Communists are Jews and accused Robert Spivack, Jewish editor of the University of Cincinnati Bearcat, of Communist activities.

CINCINNATI (JTA)—Charges of persistent anti-Semitic propaganda activity were made against an American Legion speaker here by the Cincinnati Branch of the American League Against War and Fascism. TOTAL JEWISH POPULATION OF WORLD 16,240,000

Five Million In Americas

WARSAW (JTA) — A total world Jewish population of 16,240,000, of whom 5,000,000 or 30 per cent, live in America, was reported by the Jewish Scientific Institute in a statistical survey published in the publication, Yivo Bletter.

The survey, conducted by Jacob Lestschinsky, economist and writer, as of the beginning of 1936, shows the world Jewish population fell off as a result of a decrease in the birth rate.

The distribution of the Jews has remained stationary. More than 60 per cent of them, about 10,000,000 live in Europe, 5,000,000 in the Americas, more than five per cent, or 500,000, in Asia; and the rest, about 30,000, in Australia.

More than 10,000,000 Jews, or two thirds, live in three countries. The United States has 4,450,000, Poland has 3,150,000 and Soviet Russia, 3,080,000.

The Jews are scattered over thirty countries, of which only four—the above three and Rumania—have more than 1,000,000. Seventeen countries have more than 100,000 Jews. The number of Jews show an increase in every country except Germany, Austria, Hungary, Switzerland, Italy, and Turkey.

are showing relatively little interest in archaeology and, except for the work carried on by the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, are making few contributions to the field. The reason for this, he explained, was that "Jewish scholars have until recently failed to study the Bible in a scientific and thoroughgoing manner."

"Of course Jews do lend financial support," he added. "Felix M. Warburg recently gave $50,000 to the American Schools for Oriental Research, and the Hebrew Union College is helping in that (Dr. Julian Morgenstern, its president, is lending my services to the Jerusalem school.)"

The archaeologist has seen service on three campaigns with joint expeditions at Tel Bair Mirsim and at Beth Zur, and in addition has lead several expeditions of his own in Transjordan. He made the first detailed survey of Moab, Edom and part of Ammon. He succeeded Dr. W. B. Albright as director of the research school.

J.E.A. To Celebrate 25th Year At Banquet Sunday

Indianapolis Jewry will gather Sunday night at Beth El Zedeck Temple to pay honor to the memory of Rabbi Isaac E. Neustadt, and to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Hebrew School he founded in 1911. The celebration and banquet are under the auspices of the Jewish Educational Association.

Rabbi Neustadt, who died in 1913, established the unified Hebrew school system of Indianapolis in 1911. A branch school known as the Isaac Marks Hebrew School was established later and the system consolidated under the Jewish Educational Association.

Approximately two hundred and fifty students are enrolled, ranging from kindergarten to college age. The curriculum covers every phase of Hebrew life and culture and includes history, language, literature, customs, current events, etc. Studies are carried on after public school hours.

A recent innovation in the method of teaching has been the introduction of the Dalton system of instruction. By this method pupils are assigned units of study with all necessary information. There are no class recitations, each pupil being examined individually as he completes a unit of study.

Rabbi James G. Heller of the Isaac M. Wise Temple, one of the leading congregations of Cincinnati, O., will be guest speaker at the anniversary celebration. Meyer Gallin, superintendent of the school, will give a short report. Directors for three years will be elected.

Officers of the association are Jacob Solotken, president; Charles Medias, first vice president; Mrs. R. Domont, second vice president; Harry S. Joseph, corresponding secretary; Louis Talesnick, financial secretary, and Henry Greenberg, treasurer.

Directors are Samuel Frommer, A. H. Goldstein, Philip Grenwald, Lewis Grosman, H. J. Hyman, Sam Hockman, Max Katz, Rabbi S. A. Katz, Charles Medias, J. A. Goodman, Mrs. I. Bingo Party For Hadassah Monday

The Indianapolis Chapter of Hadassah will sponsor a Bingo party and tea Monday afternoon at the Beth El Zedeck Temple, Thirty-fourth and Ruckle Streets at 2 o'clock. Cash and door prizes will be awarded. Proceeds from this affair will go to the Infants' Welfare fund. The entire community is invited.

Charry, Mrs. R. Domont, G. A. Efraymson, Julius Falender, Louis Falender, Isadore Feibleman, Rabbi M. M. Feuerlicht, I. Arouisti, David Meshulum, Charles Brenner, Otto Diamond, Henry Greenburg, Harry S. Joseph, Philip Kraft, Francis Mazur, Max Plesser, Mrs. L. Seriensky, Robert Stolkin, and Louis Wolf.

The nominating committee consists of Julius Falender, chairman; Leon Ettinger, Sydney Romer, and William B. Miller.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, of which Mrs. Harry Cohen is president, will have charge of the banquet. Mrs. Bess Dobrowitz and Miss Betty Weiss are in charge of reservations.

Blood Fails To Halt Play

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (Spl.)—Although blood dripped from head wounds sustained in an automobile accident only a few minutes before, attractive Thelma Brook, a junior at the University of Illinois, heroically finished her role in a Hillel performance here.

Injured when the taxicab in which she was riding was rammed by another automobile, Miss Brook hurried to the playhouse, after receiving medical attention for painful injuries, despite the doctor's admonition that she go home. Her part in the production called for considerable activity, but the heroic co-ed continued on even after her wounds opened and began to bleed.

Her friends rushed Miss Brook to the hospital where she is reported recovering.

She is the president and organizer of the Independent Woman's League, a member of the honorary scholastic and speech societies of the University and secretary of the Hillel Foundation.
